GOOD SHEPHERD SUMMER PROGRAM PARTNERS

The GSES Summer Program is excited to host Camp Invention for summer 2016! For students entering grades one through six, Camp Invention is a weeklong adventure that will turn the summer from ordinary to extraordinary through hands-on problem solving, using science, technology, engineering, and mathematics (STEM). This year's Camp Invention curriculum is called Epic™, inspired by some of our nation's most brilliant minds including experienced educators, Inductees of the National Inventors Hall of Fame and developed in partnership with the United States Patent and Trademark Office. Epic™ features hands-on modules like CrickoBot™, where campers construct and personalize a DIY solar-powered cricket and a unique habitat; Epic Park™, where campers work in teams to design an eco-adventure park; I Can Invent: Maker Studio™, where campers brainstorm product ideas and build original prototypes using real tools and components found in everyday devices; and The Lab: Where Pigs Fly™, where children can discover the science of slime, demolition, electronic sound, giant squid, and coding.

Chamberlain Studios of Self-Defense™ is the premier provider of martial arts instruction in the DallasMetroplex, with two main locations (Bachman Lake and Lakewood) and multiple after-school programs offered around the city.

They offer a family-oriented training environment that provides a variety of programs and classes for both children and adults. The children's classes incorporate the trademarked Three Steps to a Great Kid character development program.

Level Up Village (LUV) delivers pioneering Global STEAM (science, tech, engineering, arts, and math) enrichment courses that promote design thinking and one-to-one collaboration. Students in grades K-9 in the U.S. work together on real-world problems and work with partner students in developing countries.

The Precision Soccer Training (PST) skills program is a customized curriculum designed to improve the basic and the complex skills necessary for playing soccer at a high level through the utilization of an instructional approach.

Introduce your child to important STEAM (science, tech, engineering, arts, and math) skills as they learn about keyboarding, technology, reading, and writing skills. Children love that there are brand-new computer missions to solve each day as they help the smart, tiny, tech-savvy Puterbugs. Critical thinking and creative components are integrated throughout the software and with hands on STEAM activities, giving them many opportunities to express themselves. Families can continue the fun and learning at home with free access to robust online activities to reinforce skills taught in the classroom.

Rocket Science is a local company that promotes an appreciation of the STEM disciplines (science, technology, engineering, and math). Rocket Science has a campaign called LAUNCH that provides a face to STEM, making science tangible, technology interactive, engineering fun, and math relevant by bringing structured play to the classroom. The program is completely mobile and includes grades kindergarten through 5th. Rocket Science has a goal to increase awareness of STEM among students and parents. The LAUNCH campaign supports interactive learning along with hands-on problem solving exercises. It doesn't just have LEGO; children experience LEGO from every dimension, including construction, assembly, exploration, and creativity, to become fully engaged. Allow Rocket Science to meet your needs in a fun, creative, and structured way.

At Youth Digital, the vision is to make technology education accessible to children around the world in a manner that is as engaging and effective as it is fun. They believe that computer science skills and concepts should be taught to every child. The mission — and singular passion — is to empower kids to create with technology by teaching them the fundamental technology skills and computer science principles that they will need to be successful in their digital world.
